Outrage at sentence for killer drink-driver

IT'S NOT ENOUGH

Killed by drunk-driver: Hugh Morton

The sentence handed down on a New Malden man who drunkenly mowed down a South African rugby fan has come under ferocious attack by family, friends – and our readers.

Hugh Morton's family also launched an attack on UK immigration services after it emerged Congolese Jimmy Katende, 31, had failed in his asylum application and could have been deported.

Katende, of Potters Grove, was jailed for five-and-a-half years by Kingston Crown Court on Friday, February 29.

He was driving with no licence or insurance and was more than two-and-a-half times the legal drink-drive limit when he hit Mr Morton, 34, in Wimbledon Chase on October 20 last year.

Mr Morton's sister, Nicky Napier, 35, of Surbiton, has criticised the UK immigration system, which she said should have deported Katende in 2001 when his asylum application was refused.

She said: "The whole UK immigration system is lacking. This man [Katende] wasn't underground – he had a house and a job – how much easier could he have made it for the authorities to find him?"

And our readers joined the chorus of disapproval, leaving a torrent of outrage when news of Katende's sentence broke on our website, yourlocalguardian.co.uk

Mr Morton had been to a pub to watch the South African's triumph in the rugby world cup.

He was walking home in Kingston Road at 4.25am when he was hit by Katende's car.

It emerged during the case that Katende had also been in the pub, and police found an almost-empty bottle of cognac in his jacket when he was arrested.

Prosecutor Philip Bennetts said Katende, who worked at Tudor Williams in New Malden, was driving at about 40mph when his car hit a bollard, lost control and mounted the pavement, hitting Mr Morton.

Katende's defence solicitor Caroline Haughey said: "This was a grotesque error of judgement. He is a foolhardy man."

"He thought he could take a short route home but he caused an innocent man to lose his life."

Sentencing, Judge Fergus Mitchell described Katende as "hopelessly drunk" and his actions as "utterly inexcusable".

"This was the most grave failing on your part that caused this collision with this innocent man," he said.

"You might as well have been letting a shotgun off in the street. You had in your possession a lethal weapon – you could not cope with driving it. Once you got into that car, I would say an incident was inevitable. As it was, you killed somebody."

Judge Mitchell recommended that Katende be deported after serving his sentence.

Katende fled the Democratic Republic of Congo in 1999 because of his father's political activities.

5 1/2 years?? How insulting! Apparently the price of a young man's life. Forget deporting him. Hang him. Waste of space.

☐ What a pathetic punishment, 5 1/2 years for recklessly taking the life of an innocent young man. Judge Mitchell you should be ashamed of such a lenient sentence.

Firms back £60m hotel

by ALITA HOWE

Developers are confident their new planning application for a four star hotel on Kingston's riverside will be given the green light after it won support from businesses and the Kingston Society.

The £60million Skerne Road development, which includes 370 residential units and a 180-room hotel run by the Moran Group, was rejected in October following concerns at its height, lack of larger family homes and the decision to locate all of the affordable housing units in one block.

But there are still only 12 parking spaces for the hotel, up from 10 in the rejected application, although this was not a reason for refusal.

Developer NHP submitted a fresh planning application on February 29 following a "positive response" from the 88 people who visited the exhibition earlier in the month.

NHP has also submitted an appeal against the previously rejected application, but hopes the new scheme will be accepted before the appeal reaches a public inquiry.

The two main buildings have been halved from 16-storey towers to two lower buildings of five and eight storeys.

Lisa Gagliani, chief executive of Kingston Chamber of Commerce, said the hotel would be an "invaluable asset" to the town centre.

Asset: An artist's impression of the Skerne Road hotel

Brian Godding, of the Kingston Society, said: "Everyone seems to agree this scheme respects the riverside more."

'Pub doorman raped me after we kissed'

A doorman has denied raping a 23-year-old Surbiton student after he gave her a lift home.

Alfred Tetteh, 39, from Hounslow, appeared at Kingston Crown Court this week, charged with raping the girl on April 27 last year.

The court heard her account of events, in which she said she was walking across Kingston Bridge when Mr Tetteh, who her friend recognised, offered the pair a lift.

They returned to the girls' home with Mr Tetteh, a doorman at a Wetherspoon pub in Surbiton, and continued drinking after their night out.

She told the court: "I invited him into my house. I talked to him, I kissed him but I had only wanted to kiss him that night."

"There is a difference between wanting him to kiss me and what happened next."

Mr Tetteh's defence solicitor Noel Lucas claimed the girl was trying to pass the blame after making a fool of herself and became trapped by her story once police were called.

The trial continues.

Waste collection slashed

Non-recyclable rubbish collections in Kingston will be cut to once a fortnight when the council's new contract starts in September.

The announcement came after the controversial Berrylands trial saw recycling rates rise dramatically when rubbish was picked up fortnightly and recycling bins every week.

But the scheme was not without its detractors and Kingston Council hopes increasing the number of items that will be collected for recycling will placate some people.

by KERRY GROVE

But even if it does not, the council has signed up to a 14-year contract, one of the biggest in the council's history, with a review in seven years.

Drinks cartons, aerosols, telephone directories and batteries are added to the list of recyclable goods. Every house will be limited to one black wheelie bin for landfill waste, which the council hopes will force people to sort their rubbish. It is hoped this will double recycling rates to about 48 per cent, putting Kingston among the greenest in the country.

Councillor Liz Green, executive member for environment and sustainability, said: "It is quite right that we should be forced to recycle more because we need to be taking it seriously. "People talk about car fumes, but methane from landfill sites is 20 times worse for climate change."

The cash-strapped council admitted last week the contract was more expensive than current arrangements, but said it was still cheaper than increases in landfill tax, which come into force soon.

Leader of the Conservative opposition Councillor Howard Jones said the council could expect increased fly-tipping.

He added: "They are depriving the community of something that it pays for in its council tax. If they are going to change it, they should put it to the people."

New park arrivals make a big splash

by PETER TRUMAN

ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

Excitement is mounting at Chessington World of Adventures, after the park took delivery of sharks and stingrays for its new sea life centre.

The fin-ishing touches are being made to the Leatherhead Road park's newest attraction and the fish were brought in from Dorset on Thursday, February 28.

The delivery included black-tip reef sharks and the curiously named nurse sharks, who are not named after their caring behaviour but a corruption of nurse, a name which once referred to certain cat-sharks.

And it was not just the sharks which caused a stir. A host of stingray species, from painted and spotted to undulated and cownose, were let loose into their new home.

Zoo manager Marc Boardman said: "We're very excited to have this fantastic new Sea Life Centre at Chessington, and we can't wait to see the centre buzzing with gleaming faces on March 15, when we open.

"The fish have all been brought up from a holding centre in Weymouth on a three hour journey to Chessington.

"This careful process is only made possible by the brilliant job carried out by the Sea Life Bio Services team headed up by Robin James."

The final few deliveries were expected this week.

Visit yourlocalguardian.co.uk to see a video of the sharks arriving.

Did the earth move for you?

There are many doubters, but people in Kingston reported feeling last week's earthquake, the biggest to hit the UK in 25 years.

Although the epicentre was in Market Rasen in Lincolnshire, Kingston did not escape the brief tremor at about 1am on Tuesday, February 26.

Simon Harris, who lives in Tolworth, said: "At first I wasn't sure if it was an earthquake, my bed turned to jelly for about three seconds - it was very weird.

"For about 10 minutes I was thinking 'was it an earthquake?' - but it wasn't until I read the national news in the morning that I realised."

The earthquake measured 5.2 on the Richter scale and was felt as far away as Wales and East Sussex, with damage caused to chimney stacks and masonry near the epicentre.

In store: Sir David Attenborough at Waterstone's

Deadlinepix KT19009

Attenborough keeps it cool

Renowned naturalist, broadcaster and author Sir David Attenborough was in Kingston last week signing copies of his new book.

Life in Cold Blood accompanies Sir David's BBC series which explored the lives of cold-blooded reptiles.

Sir David said: "Reptiles and amphibians are sometimes thought of as slow, dim-witted and primitive.

"In fact, they can be lethally fast, spectacularly beautiful, surprisingly affectionate and extremely sophisticated."

He was in Waterstone's in the Bentall Centre on Wednesday, February 27.

MP Davey is ejected from Commons over EU debate

Edward Davey MP had the rare dishonour of being ejected from the House of Commons last week, after angry protests about his party not being allowed to speak about a referendum on the EU.

Claiming he had been "gagged", the Kingston and Surbiton MP was told to leave the house after deputy speaker Sir Michael Lord ran out of patience with his vocal protestations.

Mr Davey was furious at the decision of the Speaker, Michael Martin, not to allow MPs to debate the Lisbon Treaty and vote on the Liberal Democrats' call for a referendum.

Mr Davey said: "We need to know when we will debate this issue. It's a debate the

by PETER TRUMAN

British people want."

When told there would be no debate he claimed it was an outrage to the house and refused to sit down.

But Sir Michael Lord replied: "The outrage to the house is in danger of being the honourable member's attitude to the chair."

Speaking after the event, Mr Davey said he had received many messages of support from constituents and did not regret his actions.

He said: "The only thing I regret is that our amendment was not called. It was our manifesto commitment and so it was quite heated. If we could not debate it then, after six days of preparation, then when, how and where? We had to stick to our guns."

Mr Davey's ejection prompted other Lib Dems to walk out of the debate in support of him.

Some Lib Dems, including leader Nick Clegg, were also warned to respect the decisions of the chairman when raising points of order.

Mr Davey was unable to take part in any of the remaining proceedings or vote that Tuesday.

The Lib Dems support the EU treaty and membership of the EU but want a referendum.

Lowest tax 'could be lower'

by KERRY GROVE

kgrove@london.newsquest.co.uk

The lowest council tax increase in 14 years could be even lower if high-paid council bosses tightened their own belts, Conservatives claimed this week.

Kingston Council "celebrated" the first below inflation increase in its history when councillors gave the 3.78 per cent increase the nod at its budget meeting on Wednesday, February 27.

But leader of the opposition Councillor Howard Jones said the Lib Dem administration should get rid of "jobsworths", instead of taking £200,000 from neighbourhood committees.

He said: "They closed down Hobbkirk House last year and that was supposed to result in savings in the budget but nobody could show me where these savings were."

One of the council's key savings, procured through selling off assets, will be made through streamlining services by placing them under one roof in "community hubs".

The Hook Centre, the borough's pilot community hub, has saved money in overheads but was dubbed "a shambles" by the opposition, who cited the late opening of the café and delay in the crèche as signs the hubs would not work.

The council has also pledged to cut costs by reducing backroom staff and providing multi-purpose contact centres, available via a single telephone number.

Council leader Coun Derek Osbourne said: "Eventually 80 per cent of all inquiries will be answered by the first person you speak to."

He blamed the council's stretched budget on a bad deal from the Government, which meant Kingston received 30 per cent of its budget from a central pot and had to raise the rest itself, compared with 50 per cent in other outer London boroughs.

See this week's Surrey Comet for more.

NEWSbrief

ON THE MOVE: Hundreds of Kingston office workers could be relocated to Crawley, as travel company TUI Travel UK begins a 90-day consultation over the proposed move. The reshuffle, which would see only TUI Travel's ski business remain in Kingston, would affect 300 members of staff, but there was no talk of redundancies.

LET US PRAY: Kingston hosts two services as part of the Women's World Day of Prayer. St Paul's Church in Queen's Road, will hold the morning service at 10.30am and St Mark's Church in St Mark's Road, will have an evening service at 7.30pm on March 7. Call 020 8399 4867.

FUN AND GAMES: A fun day will be held in Old London Road on March 22, including street entertainers, competitions, special offers and family activities. Visit kingstonfirst.co.uk or call 020 8547 1221 for information.

Need a GP after hours? No chance!

Kingston has been rated the worst borough in London for access to GPs outside normal working hours.

A survey by the Evening Standard newspaper found that only 3 per cent of surgeries were open after hours and on Saturdays.

by PETER TRUMAN

p.truman@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingston Primary Care Trust (PCT) admitted the news was a concern and said there would be movement in coming weeks.

A spokeswoman said: "In relation to opening times, 27 per cent of surgeries are open late on weekdays and 21 per cent offer early opening times.

"We currently have one practice that opens on Saturday mornings. The PCT is scoping the detail of consultations available, to develop a local plan with our practices to extend access to primary care services. We are also waiting for further guidance from the Department of Health."

In Ealing, 44 per cent of surgeries opened late or at weekends, and a third of those in Hackney also did so.

The news is the latest in a series of poor results for Kingston health users, after it was revealed they faced the longest waiting list in the country for hearing aids, many diabetics were not receiving sight saving tests and the PCT was struggling to tackle a £21million deficit.

Style counts

Hairdressers at Toni & Guy in Victoria Road, Surbiton, will donate every penny they earn on Sunday, March 9, to help raise £700k for a new children's ward at Kings' College Hospital.

An image consultant, botox specialist and make-up artist will be on hand.

Clowning around: Jathe Pararajasing and Santhiya Sivanesakumar

Schools from across the borough and beyond showcased their wares at a Young Enterprise Trade Fair on Saturday.

Teams from 10 schools set up stands and sold their products in Eden Walk and competed for a series of cash prizes to reinvest into their fledgling firms.

Products ranged from toys to help children learn new languages to colourful pashminas for the fashion conscious.

The event was judged by Kingston chamber of commerce chief executive Lisa Gagliani, Mayor of Kingston Councillor Shiraz Mirza and representative from Bentalls and Kingstonfirst.

Winner of the best product was 5 Squared from Tiffin Girls' School with their fashion inspired game Retail Therapy and best salesmanship was Innov8 from Hampton School with their innovative book holder.

"How I Transformed My Kitchen Without Having to Buy a New One"

"My kitchen was over 10 years old and looked tatty. I desperately needed a new kitchen but didn't want the cost or upheaval. I had heard good reports of Dream Doors, who specialise in kitchen facelifts, so I decided to give them a try. What an amazing transformation!"

As well as fitting brand new doors and worktops, everything was colour co-ordinated and I even gained additional cupboard space. My kitchen has been transformed in just over a day and I saved 60% of the cost of a new one!

I was under no obligation from the initial visit, and the advice and estimate I received were free of charge. There was no mess, no fuss, just plenty of friendly, helpful advice and I didn't need to pay the balance until I was completely satisfied!

On path to recovery from eating disorders

Anorexia is not a slimmer's disease – it often starts as a longing to return to childhood. CHLOE LAMBERT meets one of the world's experts on eating disorders to find out the facts

The smell of hot, delicious food wafts down the stairs at the eating disorders unit at Springfield Hospital.

It is lunchtime and 20 young, fragile-looking women are quietly sitting down at a table in the dining room. Nurses in plain clothes sit with them as they bravely begin on their plates.

Away from the group, one girl is walking into her room pushing a machine in front of her. Not yet ready to bring food to her mouth, she is being fed by a tube into her nose.

Women from across the country come to stay at Springfield's in-patient unit, whose recovery rates have brought it an international reputation in this area of mental health.

One in 100 women aged 15 to 40 will develop anorexia. There is no single known cause for this terrifying disorder and with each case being slightly different it can be difficult to treat – 15 to 20 per cent of patients will die from it.

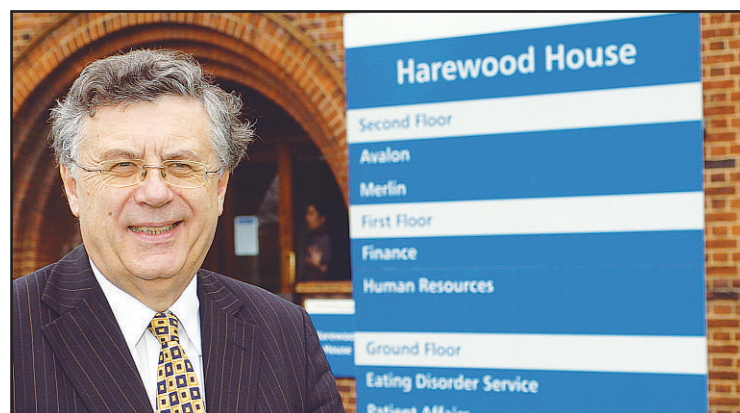

Anorexia occurs in all social groups but leading authority Professor Hubert Lacey, who teaches and practises here, says young women are most susceptible, often because they struggle to cope with the changes to their body during adolescence.

He says: "A woman's puberty is much shorter and much more marked than a man's. Women are fatter – they gain fatty tissue for breastfeeding and food reserves.

"This alters their relationships with their family and with society. Some women find it hard to handle this change and they long for the quietness of childhood. Anorexia becomes a coping strategy."

Pressure on teenage girls over marital problems, friendships and relationships, together with rapid, radical changes in their physical appearance can all trigger an obsessive fear of normal body weight.

Many young women come to Springfield weighing as little as three or four stone and are gently nursed back to health.

Laura Lock, head occupational therapist, says: "It is similar to the transition from babies to adolescents. Some patients need to be held while they are fed. They are literally on death's door."

Quite apart from the health implications of a profound weight loss, eating disorders fundamentally affect a person's ability to go about their everyday lives.

Going to the pub, shopping for clothes, getting in the bath and looking in the mirror can all become frightening ordeals for someone who detests their own shape.

At Springfield, patients are helped through occupational therapy and psychiatry to overcome their hatred of their body and fear of food. They also learn to communicate with others, live independently and manage stress and anxiety.

Ms Lock says: "Some people want to stay ill and it can go on all their lives. They go out, lower their weight and come back in."

However, of those who do develop anorexia, 50 per cent will recover. Springfield has not had a single death of a patient in care. The staff are helping hundreds of women and their families to overcome this devastating illness and lead normal and happy lives.

Chigsy is the final nomination for Kingston's Best Dog and some might say we have left the best for last.

He is a two-year-old Staffordshire terrier who loves nothing more than being centre stage.

Bought for Lorna Lackey's 30th birthday, Chigsy was ring-bearer at her wedding and trotted down the aisle to deliver the bands of love.

Lorna said: "He was such a hit with our family and friends and performed very well. The vicar of St Mark's Church thought it was great and said she had never done a service like it.

"He was the star of the day. Everyone wanted to take his photo with his satin collar and lead. How many dogs have done that?"

Chigsy is black with a little white mark on his chest, weighs about four stone and is "a big boy who is solid like a rock", according to Lorna.

She said: "He is handsome and his coat is shiny and he is the best dog anyone could ever have.

"I don't know who is more blessed, him or us, to have the other."

Chigsy has even swayed Lorna's mother-in-law, who used to be scared of dogs. She now loves it when Chigsy

by PETER TRUMAN

ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

comes to meet her.

And he has been looking after the Lackeys' latest puppy, Ruby, sharing bones and toys and helping out.

Lorna added: "He is always there for a cuddle – we can say kiss and he plants one straight on our lips. We love him so much. If all Staffs were like Chigsy, they would not have such a bad name."

The nominations for Kingston's Best Dog have now closed. Next week, we will remind you of all the dogs before announcing the winner in a fortnight. So there still is plenty of time to get your votes in for your favourite dog.

Send your votes by email to ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk, visit our website (see below) or send a letter to Kingston's Best Dog, Unecol House, 819 London Road, North Cheam, Surrey SM3 9BN. Alternatively, you can vote by text and you could win a bottle of champagne. See the box on the right for details.

Brilliantly conducted: People packed the church to sing and raise money

Voices and money are raised at event

A come-and-sing event to support Kingston's All Saints' Church appeal raised £2,500 on Saturday.

More than 200 singers from local choirs and singing groups packed the church on March 1 to sing Mozart's Requiem and Vaughan Williams' Five English Folk Songs.

The event was conducted by John Bate, musical director of the Thames Philharmonic Orchestra, and Richmond Orchestra provided the accompaniment.

Overweight is in the past for contestant

Fad diets seem to be a thing of recent times, but one Kingston resident lost over a stone finding out they are nothing new at all.

Vaughan Evans, 38, was selected at random to take part in a Channel 4 programme Diets that Time Forgot and spent 24 days in a 20th century health farm with other dieters, testing regimes from the late Victorian and Edwardian periods up to the Roaring 20s.

Mr Evans, a former contestant of Channel 4 gameshow Deal or No

by JAMES WHITE

drankin@london.newsquest.co.uk

Deal, agreed to participate in the programme at the Institute of Physical Culture when his name was plucked from an internal database.

He said the call came at the perfect time.

"I needed someone to tell me I was getting fat," he said.

Mr Evans admitted that "everything dropped" after a knee injury forced him to give up semi-professional rugby.

He said: "When I played rugby I had a buff body. My chest used to be solid and my arms were like people's legs."

Testing the first calorie-counting Lulu diet of the 1920's, Mr Evans lost a notable 20lb 14oz, and now weighs in at 15.5stone. He said he would like to lose a further two stone, but did not say which decade he would use for inspiration.

The six-part series begins on April 4 on Channel 4 at 9pm.

Gannett grant

Once again the Gannett Foundation, the charitable arm of Gannett, the owner of this newspaper, is inviting local registered charities to apply for a grant.

The foundation supports small, locally based charities which require equipment for projects helping disadvantaged groups within our area.

Margaret Strayton, Newsquest's group editorial manager and trustee of the Gannett Foundation in the UK, said: "This year we have to apply a very strict criteria to those charities applying for grants. We are unable to fund salaries or general running costs, including the purchase of computer equipment, publicity, short term projects such as day trips or holidays, uniformed groups, ie scouts, guides etc, and schools other than those dealing specifically with people with disabilities or complex needs.

"The application form should indicate the number of people the grant would assist, if awarded, under this category."

The closing date for applications is Thursday, March 20, 2008. Contact Val Andrews on 020 8330 9585 or vandrews@london.newsquest.co.uk for an application form and criteria. Applications not made on the correct form will not be considered.

Marymount International School, London is an independent Catholic day and boarding school that welcomes girls of all faiths, aged 11 to 18.

Students follow the International Baccalaureate programme, recognised globally by universities as a benchmark of quality in education.

As one of the first IB schools in the UK, Marymount excels with experience and continues to be placed in the top 3.5 per cent of the 1,000 schools in the UK, as listed in The Times Top Schools 2007.

Students work hard and achieve outstanding results – two students this year achieving the perfect score of 45 (equivalent to at least five A grades at 'A' level) and almost all continue on to university.

Located on a private estate, just 12 miles from central London, Marymount London enrolls 240 girls, representing more than 40 countries.

Class sizes are small and study programmes are planned to meet the needs of individual students.

The school aims to educate young women to become the global leaders of tomorrow and follows the example of its founders, 'that all may have life and have it to the full'.

Qualified: Some of the successful businesswomen at Kingston College

Celebrating qualified success

Businesswomen across the borough have been celebrated after 91 of them achieved a prestigious management qualification.

Women from the Centre for Business Enterprise at Kingston College achieved their prestigious Institute of Leadership and Management level three NVQ in management after enrolling on the Learning and Skills Council-funded Train to Gain programme last year.

Women join forces for network benefits

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

A group of businesswomen, frustrated with poorly arranged exhibitions and the high costs of setting up stalls at trade shows, have set up their own networking group.

Surrey Women's Enterprise (SWE) was created after ceramic designer Joanna London, from Bookham, Ida Horner, from Walton, who runs an ethnic supplies website, IT trainer Jan Hodgson, from Woking, and corporate complementary therapist Beverley Fowler, from Walton, met at a Business Link course last year.

Ms London, 40, a ceramic designer said the women stayed in touch and met monthly for mutual support and networking.

It was at one of these meetings they had the eureka moment for SWE. "We were all having problems with marketing and selling our products," she said.

"Getting a stand at a trade fair can cost £300 to £400 but we were finding the events were badly organised and a real disappointment."

The group, which is inviting other like-minded businesswomen to join, will hold monthly networking meetings and organise low-cost sales events by using members' contacts and expertise. Direct costs such as hall hire and advertising will be shared among members.

Ms London said: "The ethos behind it is that new businesses often have more time than money so we wanted to try to help businesswomen grow their business and overcome this problem of sales and marketing by pooling resources and skills rather than having to take on loans."

The first SWE event is scheduled for April 30 at King George's Hall, Esher, and will be opened by Mayor of Elmbridge Councillor Rosemary Dane.

Month full of events for Chamber of Commerce

A bumper month of events has been organised by Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

A wine tasting event, finance and business seminar and a talk on increasing business profits through building relationships are among the March highlights for members. There will also be a chance for businesses to hear about the latest plans for Kingston's Skerne Road hotel development at a networking event on March 13.

For more details on the events, and to book, call 020 8541 4441 or visit kingstonchamber.co.uk.

Federation: 'Fuel rise will hurt us'

The Federation of Small Businesses (FSB) has urged the Government not to go ahead with a fuel duty increase of 2p per litre, which is planned for April 1.

Chris Glen, FSB transport chairman, said fuel prices already "hurt" small business and a rise would increase such worries. He said: "After a really tough year, small businesses deserve a break."

The FSB is finalising plans for a day of action to challenge the issue, which is due to be held on March 13.

You and your wellbeing

Yes, we've still got our wobbly tums and bouncy bums, but with January's faddy diets way behind us, it's time to put a bit of thought into the way we live. We all want to live longer, be thinner, smarter, fitter, feel better and have more energy to participate in life. In short, we all want a happy life.

Whether you need a bit more energy to take up something new or you simply can't run around after the grandkids, like you did with your own children, making a few small changes will make the world of difference to how you look and feel.

In nature, many things get stronger as they get older—look at any tree. We humans often see age as a weakness and forget that with growing older comes the strength and experience future generations depend on. You're bursting with knowledge, inner strength and know how to enjoy yourself—come on, those smile lines came from years of laughter!

This is the time to invest in yourself and think about your most fragile possession, your body. Take good care of your body and your body will take good care of you.

And because what you eat plays a vital part in shaping your life, looking after 'me' also means eating well. The good news is that incorporating foods that benefit your health and wellbeing and avoiding those that don't is really simple. Take saturated fat for instance—it's the bad fat you can live without. Omega 3 and 6 are the good fats you probably need a bit more of and as for artificial this and that—you can definitely banish those for good. You don't have to eat rabbit food or spend a fortune. It's a question of balance. Just make a few little changes and notice a big difference.

Which is where we like to think we can help. At Alpro we're particularly passionate about wellbeing. Wellbeing in its widest sense—how it affects you and your environment. Alpro Soya brings you the goodness of the whole soya bean. Its tasty range is naturally low in saturated fat, contains Omega 3 and 6 and is free from artificial colours and preservatives. Alpro's range includes alternatives to milk, yogurts, custards, cream and indulgent desserts and is available in most major supermarkets. Treat your body with care and it will return the favour. Make your body the best place to live.

Alpro Soya's 'You and Your Wellbeing' guide is a handy booklet, designed to make taking the first steps to better health and wellbeing a piece of cake!

It's full of interesting hints and tips on nutrition, exercise, relationships and environment. What's more, it contains delicious and nutritious recipes, secrets on how to break habits and a weekly planner, to help you keep on track.

Garden club owner fears for the future

by MATT WATTS

mwatts@london.newsquest.co.uk

A community gardening project which provides produce for elderly and disabled people in the borough may be forced to close due to a lack of volunteers.

Joseph Xavier, 68, who runs the Tolworth Community Garden Club, fears the project may wilt away while he recovers from a hernia operation because there are not enough volunteers to cover his workload.

Although the project, which was set up three years ago, gets support from the Surbiton YMCA, Berrylands Scouts and Help the Aged, Mr Xavier, who lives in Britannia Road, needs more people to help out.

He said: "The project means a lot of people who are house-bound receive our produce and they will be really disappointed if it closes.

"We have two raised beds, which means people in wheelchairs can garden too, and it will be a shame for them if we can't maintain the project."

The project is also used by people with learning difficulties and grows a variety of fruit and vegetables.

"Gardening brings people together in a common cause and can unite people of different ages and abilities," he said.

"People should come and give it a go. They are sure to enjoy it."

The extra help is needed now, as the spring planting and summer harvesting seasons arrive.

Simone Kay, who helps run the Knollmead Community Garden, expressed her support for the project.

"It's a fantastic project and we need to do everything we can to make sure it keeps going," she said.

To volunteer, contact Mr Xavier on 020 8399 1618.

Early bird warning to gardeners

The RSPB wants Kingston gardeners to be careful trimming their hedges with the arrival of spring.

Because of the unseasonably hot weather, birds have settled into their nests early, especially in thick or green shrubs. Conservationists are concerned birds could be harmed when hedges are cut.

Traders despair as high street to be dug up again

New Malden High Street is to be dug up for the fourth time in two years, after council officers revealed that parts of the road failed almost immediately after the extensive works programme had been completed.

Four times in two years? How incompetent is that! Yet again the high street will grind to a halt for weeks on end, traders will suffer and jobs will be put at risk. It is quite unbelievable that this is happening again. And what contractor will we be entrusting this time? Laurel & Hardy? It's bizarre that we can send men into space and build tunnels under the channel, yet nobody seems able to lay paving slabs properly.

No future for Tesco's Tolworth plans?

The future of a proposed Tesco in Tolworth could be in jeopardy following the competition commission's provisional report on big supermarkets.

I agree that Tesco is trying to create a monopoly and that this is obviously bad for small business and for the consumer, but what's the alternative? Leave the old ministry site as an abandoned derelict area that lowers the tone of the whole area and is bad for local business and residents? I don't understand why Kingston Council have not developed the site for housing that they are so short of.

Roland, Tolworth

Europe is to blame

All the huffing and puffing of councillors/MPs/MEP/petitions on this controversial issue is a smokescreen for the real villain of the closures.

Since 1977, more than 4,000 post offices have been closed. The European Parliament has voted in directive 97/67/EC, breaking up mail state monopolies and forced cuts in state subsidies, supported by Labour, Lib Dem and Conservative MEPs.

That bill was amended in 2002 and again supported by the same three main political parties.

Only the UK Independence Party voted against. A further 2,500 post offices are closing by the subservience of, yet again, the same three main political parties.

They know it – but do you?

When did you receive a truthful update from your representatives?

State monopoly of the post office will be disbanded by 2009, as demanded by this directive 97/67/EC.

Sign of the times: Post Office campaigners have been out in force

Council should get post offices moving

I have seen and read all that has been said about the post offices earmarked for closure. Now I am in a strange position, as I am a post office pensioner.

If I say anything I am biting the hand that feeds me, but what I have wondered is why can't the post office take a leaf out of the council's book and have a mobile post office, like the mobile library, and be in one position one or two days, then move on to another site?

Then pensions could be collected at any time, not on certain days. I think this would make sense.

I think the amount of money taken in at each post office must be very small, but the amount paid out – that is different again.

Only today did I see something said about concerns there was money being kept overnight. At night, the mobile post office will go back to the post office and at the end of business, and all concerned, the post office, the pensioners, businesses and the every day customer will still get the service that we have all known over the years.

United front

I would like to commend the Guardian for its campaign to save our local post offices and the extensive coverage that it gave to the protests held outside the threatened branches, except that it left out possibly the most unusual fact: That all three political parties are working together!

I was joined by other local Labour Party activists outside each branch calling for their preservation, and wholeheartedly back the Guardian's campaign.

Don't let Lib Dems blur focus on the Conservatives

Having read the recent Liberal Democrat Focus leaflet distributed in New Malden, I feel it is essential to address some of the points raised by those who constructed the document.

First and foremost the local Conservatives have no interest in closing down Coombe Girls' School.

It is a flagship school and valued by local residents and parents alike.

What New Malden Liberal Democrats also fail to tell residents is that the Conservatives are not against proposals by Richmond and Kingston councils to rebuild Greycourt School, Ham.

Why? Because there are no such proposals.

At the moment it is simply an idea and one which we will look at in detail.

Currently, Kingston's secondary schools are operating at 98.5 per cent capacity, whereas the Government sets 7% excess capacity for there to be any parental choice.

These are valid arguments for the parents wanting to look into the idea of a new school in north Kingston.

Councillor Don Jordan quotes in the same Focus leaflet that the idea of a new school in north Kingston "is very damaging for the borough's other secondary schools".

In spite of the publicity, not a single Kingston secondary school has commented on the possibility of a new secondary school.

We will continue to pursue the desires of the local parents and feel it irresponsible that Susan Kramer's Liberal Democrats are playing party politics with education in Kingston.

Pilot details are wanted

Via the entry for the Surbiton and District Historical Society on the council's website, I have been contacted by a Belgian wanting to find out family details of a local airman killed in World War II over Belgium.

The airman's name is Flying Officer Peter Looker who flew a Blenheim plane and whose death was reported in the Surrey Comet on July 4, 1942. He was born in Kingston in 1920.

His parents were living at the Ardmay Hotel in Surbiton at the time of his death and his mother later lived in Elmers Avenue.

Let's save sculpture

The stay of execution on Quebec House gives at least a temporary reprieve to the blue-and-white abstract sculpture mounted on its Cromwell Road wall and brightening the view from Kingston station.

Kingston is not so well endowed with public art that we can afford to lose this unusual piece, made in 1960 by Munich-born sculptor Bianca Treuberg in stainless steel and glass fibre. If Quebec House is eventually redeveloped, let us ensure that the sculpture is found a suitable new home.

Trash plan

News that bin collections are to become a fortnightly occurrence in order to accommodate weekly recycling has left me spitting feathers.

As a pensioner I have better things to worry about than sorting my milk cartons from my soup tins.

The idea of having to embark upon a bin liner assault course whenever I need to pop to the shops or run an errand fills me with dread.

Besides, with bin bags full of leftover food strewn across our pavements the local foxes are sure to be out in force. A not so cunning plan, methinks.

Why join a Golf Club ?

Par 3 10th Hole

Fulwell - presents the answer

Par 5 11th Hole

Golf nowadays is no longer the stuffy preserve of society's elite and with the proliferation of courses within the South East, opportunity to play is better now than ever before.

It is because of this that many golfers are now choosing not to join a golf club and instead play nomadic golf with their close friends on a casual basis.

If the above sounds like you, you may be missing out, as Club golf offers so much more, most of which is often not appreciated by the casual golfer.

Many people when they consider the option of joining a club simply focus on the cost of membership fees in relation to the number of times they may be available to play, often not considering or enquiring about other benefits available.

Mark Walden, Secretary / Manager at the prestigious Fulwell Golf Club in Hampton Hill, a keen nomadic golfer himself, gives an overview of what his Club has to offer as an example:

First, established in 1904 and boasting one of London's finest classic parkland courses, Fulwell presents a challenge to both the high and low handicap golfer. With a rich history of competitive golf the Club is ideal if your aim is to improve your game.

Nigel Turner, the resident Golf Professional operates a Golf Academy with a stable of teaching pro's utilising the Club's large practice ground, separate short game area and putting green facilities, in addition to video analysis within his well equipped golf shop.

The Club's competition programme includes something for everyone from Juniors to Seniors. There are in excess of 100 competitions staged through the year, many with a history older than the FA Cup

An active ladies membership and extensive opportunities for mixed golf ensure Fulwell has an inclusive and welcoming atmosphere. Mark emphasises, "One of the big attractions of Fulwell and a key reason for its success, is the ease with which to find a playing partner. Many members simply turn up and join others on the first tee, such is the friendly camaraderie that exists at the Club."

A common misconception of those that play nomadic golf is that in joining a golf club you tend to give up playing at other courses. Ironically, joining a "members" club is one of the best ways to enjoy golf at a variety of courses. Representing the Club in away matches is readily available to both new and established members alike. Alternatively, by being a member of Fulwell you can now take advantage of the Middlesex County Card scheme which offers exclusive access to all "member" golf clubs throughout the South East at special guest rates, which generally offer a 50% discount from the standard green fee.

Golf is a technical game that requires regular play to improve. Being a member and having enhanced access to enjoy the course and its extensive practice facilities at times that suit your lifestyle, will give you the best opportunity to improve your skills and reduce your handicap.

Golf is not the only attraction at Fulwell, the Club provides a handsome Georgian style clubhouse, boasting first class hospitality for entertaining corporate clients, or friends and family. The Club's regular programme of social events, acts as further encouragement for members to meet new friends and playing partners, whilst snooker and bridge are included as other distractions.

Demand to join Fulwell remains high, even with a traditional joining fee being required and that is because taken as a whole the Club offers tremendous value for money. Total membership costs are the equivalent to little more than the cost of a single green fee per week if worked out on a pro-rata basis over several years. So if your aim is to improve your golf, membership at Fulwell not only offers you everything you may need but could also help you enjoy your leisure time that much more.

For further details visit the Club's website: www.fulwellgolfclub.co.uk

Where you will find a hole by hole, shot by shot, photographic tour of the course, together with both membership and green fee information.

For a membership brochure please call 0208 977 2733 and ask to speak to Mark Walden or Assistant Secretary, Richard Emery.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of
JOAN LANE
Who passed away
10th March 2007.

You were first a Wife and Mother,
So loving and selfless, yes
And then a Nan and Nana,
These roles they were your best.
Last year, when you were taken from us,
Our hearts just broke in two,
You should have been here for longer,
So much more to see and do.
Our lives changed that day forever,
And a hole was quickly made,
And whilst that gap stays with us,
Your memory will never fade.
With all our love always,
Gwen, Mick, Kerry, Mickey

With the Think in Kingston festival urging residents to engage their grey matter, we asked AC Grayling, author, philosophy professor and festival guest, what has got him thinking in recent times. He spoke to JONATHAN PORTLOCK

'Iraq was a crocked-up endeavour by neocons'

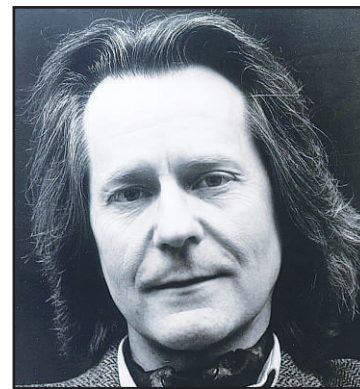

Do you think people in the West take their liberty for granted?

They do and people should be more watchful about them. We've seen over the last five years serious reductions in our civil liberties.

Is the erosion of our civil liberties inevitable in today's terrorist climate – is it not just a lesser evil?

After 7/7, Tony Blair said the terrorists want to us to change our way of life but we never will. We then went on to change our way of life [with these new laws]. One has to accept that there will always be bad people and the security services have to be alert – but this must be balanced with a respect for civil liberties. The first duty of government is to protect the liberties of people. The idea that security matters more is feeble.

Why do you disagree with some people that religion played an important role in the development of human rights and continues to play a needed role in society?

Philosophical: AC Grayling

We had to wrench human rights out of the grip of the church. The church was a totalitarian regime. Religious movements have the right to exist and have their say, but they are self-interest groups and should have no more privilege than other self-interest groups, such as trade unions. For instance, there are 10,000 faith schools funded out of our tax money. This is not acceptable.

Is it ultimately foolish to try to impose democracy on other parts of the world?

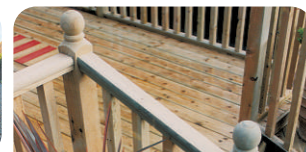

You can't do it. In the case of Iraq, there is now a pragmatic realisation that America's support for dictatorial regimes was justifiable because a strong man is the only way to keep vociferous societies under control. Iraq was a crocked-up endeavour by the neocons to finish what "daddy" [George Bush Sr] could have finished.

What importance does philosophy have in everyday life?

It is of direct relevance to human life. Traditionally, philosophy has been fundamentally about how we should live, what human nature is and how we can construct a good society. Until people think about [these things], then they are just footballs kicked around by other people.

Ready for a Banquet:
Keith Murray and Chris Cain AKA We Are Scientists

Science is golden

It takes a brave band to admit that they are ditching their old sound as they prepare to release their second album, but New York-based indie outfit We Are Scientists are nothing if not different.

Quirky, offbeat, and with something of a humorous slant, WAS have built a keen cult following since unleashing their debut album With Love and Squalor to critical acclaim back in 2005.

But bass guitarist and vocalist Chris Cain has warned fans that anyone expecting new long-player Brain Trust Mastery to be a simple retread is likely to be sorely disappointed.

GIGS: We are Scientists, Banquet Records, Kingston

Simon Fitzjohn

Cain says: "We've taken things in a different direction on the new album basically because that was what we wanted to hear."

"It's very easy to get into a comfort zone when you are recording and we really wanted to avoid that."

"Our last record fitted into the genre of post-punk dance but that genre really needs no further addition," he adds, correctly.

"This record reflects our feelings now and it has much more of a generic pop sound."

Cain formed We Are Scientists with fellow member Keith Murray at college in California back in 2000.

They were originally joined by Michael Tapper on drums, who left the band in November last year to be replaced by Adam Aaronson.

And he admits the long road to success has made producing an album a lot simpler this time around.

He adds: "It has been a lot easier in a lot of ways."

"We are not in a position of needing to fight our way through the minefield of upcoming bands."

"There is pressure to live up to with the first record and that will always be the case."

The US act have been under the spotlight in this country since being part of the NME Tour with the Arctic Monkeys in 2006, and last year supported the Kaiser Chiefs on their UK jaunt.

And Cain revealed the reception they get over here far outstrips that in their homeland.

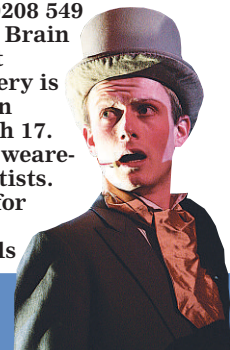

He explains: "We are on a completely different level here than to back in the US."

"Live music seems to be more integral in the UK and people seem to be in it for a longer period of their life."

"In the US everything seems aimed at a much younger market, so it's a great scene to be part of."

We Are Scientists, Instore at Banquet Records, Friday 7 March, 6pm, free by invitation, call 0208 549 5871. Brain Trust Mastery is out on March 17. Visit weare-scientists.com for more details

Wilde times

The search for the secret of eternal youth arrives at the Riverhouse this week when Oscar Wilde's gothic masterpiece, The Picture of Dorian Gray, receives a radical overhaul from the European Arts Company.

Wilde's classic tale charts the descent of Dorian from handsome fop to murdering womaniser after he wishes a portrait of him to age instead of him.

Written in 1890 and filmed for the screen in 1945, the work is hailed as a benchmark in horror writing.

But John O'Connor, director of the stage version, reveals his slant is not all doom and gloom.

He says: "Our production is a bit more light-hearted. It is very physical and highly stylised but, at the same time, you still have that wonderful level of Wildean dialogue."

"There are obviously dark tones to it but we have upped the comedy elements as our first duty is always to entertain."

Anyone expecting a romp through the Victorian streets, though, is in for a surprise, as the European Arts Company takes a more hands-on approach.

O'Connor says: "Everything you see on stage are the effects you would see in an artist's studio. There is no extra scenery so everything has to be recreated from those items.

THEATRE: The Picture of Dorian Gray, Riverhouse

Simon Fitzjohn

"The performance is physical, inventive and imaginative."

As the company is non-funded, everything is run on a shoestring budget.

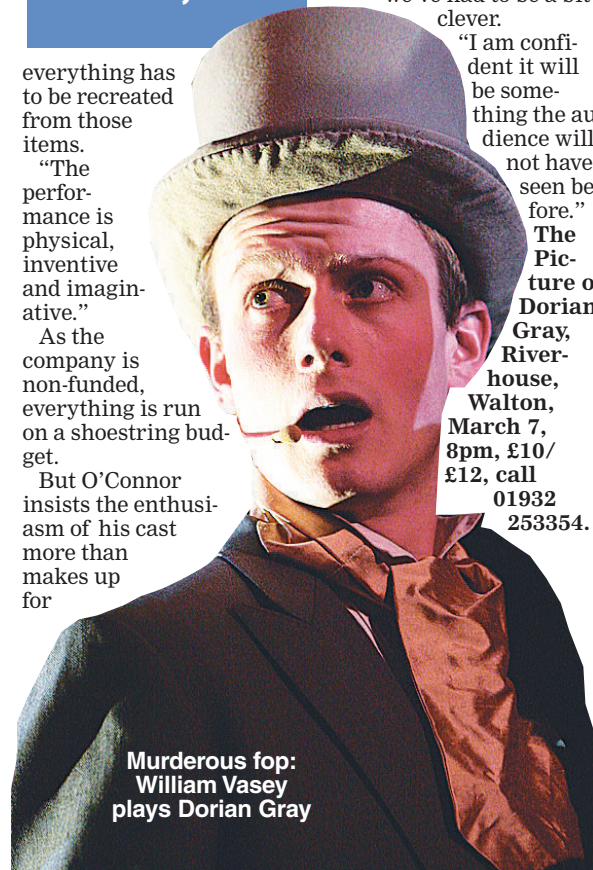

But O'Connor insists the enthusiasm of his cast more than makes up for any technical razzmatazz. He concludes: "To do a proper adaptation of Dorian Gray, you would probably need a cast of 27 and we have five."

"But necessity is the mother of invention and we've had to be a bit clever."

"I am confident it will be something the audience will not have seen before."

The future's Orange

Stanley Picker Gallery is marking its first solo exhibition of work by designer Ben Kelly.

The show, International Orange: Ben Kelly In Collaboration, includes everyday objects that Kelly finds inspiring and works using both craft and industrial processes to make objects that have no function other than as exhibits.

"International Orange offers the chance to see a more personal side of one of the most exciting designers working in the UK today," said curator David Falkner.

"The work presents a series of objects and images, made both solo and in collaboration with friends and colleagues."

"They reflect Kelly's inspirations and influences and provide an insight into his creative thoughts and processes." Award-winning Kelly cemented his reputation in his design of Manchester's legendary nightclub, The Hacienda, and continues to produce high-profile and innovative spaces including fashion stores, hotels and a new chain of fitness clubs.

International Orange features works inspired by The Hacienda, such as a pair of trainers designed by Ben with graphic designer Peter Saville that were produced to commemorate 25 years since the launch of the nightclub and a set of silk-screen prints emulating the works of Andy Warhol, showing an image of both Kelly and Warhol meeting face to face.

"Some of the collaborative partnerships existed prior to this exhibition and some are new working relationships, but all reflect Kelly's huge respect for both the way each approaches their personal work and the excellence of their achievements in their professional fields," added David.

A special limited-edition poster print by Kelly and Saville will be available from the gallery during the exhibition, which runs until April 26.

Films This week's ones to watch

VANTAGE POINT (12A): This is an intricate action-thriller, which replays a devastating terrorist attack from eight perspectives – but coincidence and chance nudge the film increasingly towards implausibility. Running time is kept to a minimum, sacrificing deep relationships between the protagonists to propel the story forwards. Stars Dennis Quaid. ★★★★★

THE GAME PLAN (U): This is, at its soft, gooey heart, an old-fashioned Disney yarn extolling the virtues of family. Humour is gentle and inoffensive, erring towards the obvious. Dwayne 'The Rock' Johnson demonstrates a flair for comedy and there's a nice rapport with his diminutive cute co-star, Madison Pettis. ★★★★★

THE OTHER BOLEYN GIRL (12A): This is a beautiful costume drama with pomp and pageantry in abundance but a paucity of emotion. There is little except visuals to keep anyone spellbound for almost two hours. Natalie Portman and Scarlett Johansson play the Boleyn sisters, with Eric Bana as Henry VIII. ★★★★★

DIARY OF THE DEAD (18): This film is starved of decent scares, whittling down the cast to the core survivors and some of the set pieces are clumsily contrived. Josh Close's hero becomes increasingly irritating and Scott Wentworth's plummy Brit professor is a caricature. ★★★★★

SEMI-PRO (15): When a nonsensical 60-second cameo by soul diva Patti LaBelle is the highlight of a sports comedy, you know you're in trouble. Semi-Pro shoots, dribbles and scores just one laugh in 91 minutes. Woody Harrelson and Maura Tierney come closest to delivering decent performances but toilet humour ruins their potentially sweet sub-plot. ★★★★★

THE BANK JOB (15): Roger Donaldson's thriller tunnels through familiar ground and the film is severely handicapped by a lifeless leading man, Jason Statham, with all the charisma of a crowbar. His co-stars bring colour to their under-written roles, while David Suchet hams it up as an East End porn mogul. ★★★★★

UNTRACEABLE (18): Untraceable is a disturbing thriller about a technical genius who uses the internet to torture his victims and the specialist team charged with tracking him down before more blood is spilt. Diane Lane slips effortlessly into the role of a ballsy mom and Colin Hanks provides some comic relief. ★★★★★

THE ACCIDENTAL HUSBAND (12A): Uma Thurman looks ill-at-ease in her comic role – she has to work incredibly hard for every half-hearted chuckle; so hard that we almost feel bad for not laughing more. The plot is incredibly contrived and unfolds without any surprises. ★★★★★

RAMBO (18): Twenty years after Rambo's last bloodthirsty tour of duty, Sylvester Stallone's iconic warrior stumbles out of retirement for a cinematic orgy of senseless carnage. Stallone looks his age, leaving you to wonder if Rambo will be able to navigate the jungle terrain without the aid of a zimmer. ★★★★★

Kit and kin: Two-man comic revue Richard Sisson and Kit Hesketh-Harvey come to the Rose

Merry widow romps home

The classic British tradition of two-man comic revues returns to Kingston this Sunday when Kit and The Widow perform their singalong set at the Rose Theatre.

Proudly continuing the work of classic double-act Flanders and Swann, Richard Sisson and Kit Hesketh-Harvey hope to have audiences rolling in the aisles with their quick-witted take on the trials of modern life.

The pair first met as students at Cambridge University in the early 1980s and pianist Richard is quick to offer reasons as to their longevity.

Sisson says: "We have been doing it for more than 25 years so we must be doing something right. The truth is, neither of us has been able to find a proper job!"

The revue is a comical, sometimes bawdy, romp through the lives of various characters.

But, despite the lewdness, Sisson reveals that all types of audience have been lapping up the performances.

He adds: "The range of ages at our shows has been really quite extraordinary."

"There is a ribald edge to the show but we have had audiences in the shows in their 80s."

"I suppose they have done it

THEATRE: Kit and The Widow, Rose Theatre

Simon Fitzjohn

more often than any of us so they know how funny it can be!

"The show, as a whole, is really our particular way of poking fun at the modern world."

Despite hitting a quarter-of-a-century in the business, Sisson reveals they have no intentions of giving up any time soon.

But he does admit that it can be difficult to maintain the enthusiasm.

He concludes: "The trick with comedy is to not do it so often that you become tired of it. We are putting new stuff in all the time so we can keep it topical."

"As long as we are enjoying it – and as long as other people are enjoying it – then we will continue."

Kit and The Widow, Rose Theatre, Kingston, Sunday, March 9, 7.30pm, £5-20, call 0871 230 1552 or visit rosetheatrekingston.org for more information.

The beat goes on: Skaville UK comes to Kingsmeadow

Drink up the calypso

Bands come and bands go, but hardcore musicians will usually find some way to stay in the business.

Evidence comes in the shape of Skaville UK, which has emerged from the ashes of classic ska groups The Selecter and Bad Manners to be at the forefront of the current British ska scene.

And lead singer Nick Welsh admits having a history in the industry can be both a blessing and a curse.

He says: "Although we have all come from established bands, you still have to start from scratch as a new act."

"We have been gradually building up a new fanbase. You

GIGS: Skaville UK, Kingsmeadow

have to respect the past when performing but must also look to the future."

Welsh has had an illustrious music and screenwriting career. Plus, he is the proud owner of a Grammy for his work on Lee 'Scratch' Perry's CD Jamaican ET.

And, along with fellow members Louis Alphonso, Martin Stewart and Al Fletcher, they are determined to bring a fresh slant.

Welsh adds: "Most of the ska bands don't really make new records. Fans deserve better. Our new stuff has all the elements of ska but a lot of other stuff going on."

One facet to the ska scene has always been the reliance on energetic stage shows, as Welsh reveals: "You have to give your all as people have paid money to see you."

"I'm enjoying it much more than I ever have done and I think that comes across."

Skaville UK, Rhoda Dakar and Jennie Bellestar, Kingsmeadow, Kingston, March 8, 8pm, £10/£12. For more information call 020 8547 3335.

TRAIN AS A HOME INSPECTOR

Up to 2 million properties being sold every year now need Home Information Packs which must include an Energy Assessment carried out by a newly trained Home Inspector or Energy Assessor. Thousands more of these new professionals will be needed later this year for the rental sector when Government requires around 1.6 million properties being let in the first year to also have Energy Assessments.

This creates new and interesting career opportunities and we require people to train now as Home Inspectors in their spare time. No previous surveying experience is required.

Thousands more new Home Inspectors will also be needed if Government confirm Packs must include a currently optional Home Condition Report.

Current fee earning expectations are £60 to £80 for Energy Assessments and £200 to £300 for Home Condition Reports with up to 15 Assessments or 6 Reports estimated to be carried out in a week, depending on size of properties and supply.

Applicants should apply now for a limited number of training places at the Government's ABBE approved centres of Home Inspector Training near London and in Bristol, Birmingham and Manchester. (4-night accommodation package advice if required.) The Course consists mainly of 7 separately bookable one-week modules, taken over up to 10 months, if this long is needed, and is designed to enable most people to train around their current commitments.

On qualifying you are awarded the Government's ABBE Home Inspector Diploma and are able to carry out Assessments and Reports on your own, for other Pack Providers or, depending on the market share gained, for our own in-house Pack Provider in return for receiving a course subsidy. Once qualified, additional courses with qualifications now being researched may be available to carry out property valuations, Energy Assessments for commercial properties and flood and fire risk assessments to provide additional income streams.

Playing the numbers game

Iain Dooley takes a closer look at the Citroën C6 2.2 HDi

Put aside the glamour for one moment: buying and running an executive car is often all about the numbers.

Factor in what's left in the bank after doing the initial deed and then feeding the thing with fuel and keeping HM Gov happy, and it's no wonder you see so many glum people driving Audis and BMWs.

Granted, there's not a lot of choice in the executive sector, what with the big German firms having sown up the market long ago. But, along with Volvo and its S80, you have another left-field choice in the shape of Citroën's C6.

The C6, has earned the right to be called futuristic. The car's long, low and lithe profile hints at something from a galaxy far, far away. So consider this: Citroën's C6 in diesel form. No, not the flagship 2.7 V6 but the more recently introduced 2.2-litre, four-cylinder version. On paper it's going to be pretty cheap to run, what with a claimed 42.8mpg on the combined cycle – the V6 diesel delivers 32.5mph.

One reason for the 2.2-litre car's impressive figures – remember the C6 is a big car – is the standard fit manual gearbox. It's fair to say that a manual gearbox is not always appreciated in an executive car, but it's one way of achieving better than average environmental figures. And, if it's any consolation, the unit in the C6 boasts a short, snappy action to make the chore of changing gear much easier than expected.

Enough excuses, the C6 in lowly diesel trim is perfectly able to stand scrutiny on its own. Performance-wise the car is no slouch as, again, the on-paper figures show: 135mp top speed and 9.5 seconds for the sprint to 60mph. It only takes a few miles behind the wheel to realise that you're not missing much by opting for the 2.2 and not the V6 diesel. The former is every bit as quiet and no less responsive despite the performance deficit.

Sure, the bigger engine doesn't have to work quite as hard, but in the 2.2 you're more inclined to take it easy and waft along more than you would normally.

In summary, this C6 is all about making you feel good either as the driver or a passenger. For one thing the car's cabin is the kind that invites you to sit back and relax. The C6's seats are wide and plush, while there's plenty of room fore and aft in which to stretch out.

If you're after something genuinely different and wouldn't mind holding on to some of your hard-earned cash in the process, the C6 in 2.2-litre diesel guise could be a surprisingly sensible option. Well equipped and offering an ownership experience like no other, in this case it's not only the numbers that add up.

Volvo on the move with Motability

Squire Furneaux, the local Volvo dealer group, has enjoyed a long-standing partnership with Motability, supplying and servicing cars for disabled people who purchase or contract hire a new Volvo through the Motability Scheme.

Currently, Motability customers can drive away in a fabulous, brand new Volvo S40 1.6S saloon car with a zero advance payment through the contract hire scheme. Other Volvo models are available with a low advance payment, and cash paying Motability customers can take advantage of special Volvo discounts on the whole range.

Motability is the leading car scheme for disabled people in the UK, enabling disabled people to obtain a car, powered wheelchair or scooter simply by using their government funded mobility allowances. In the UK, over 1.7 million disabled people receive for the Higher Rate Mobility Component of Disability Living Allowance and over 16,000 receive for the War Pensioners' Mobility Supplement.

Customers exchange their allowance for a worry-free mobility package, including a car, powered wheelchair or scooter, insurance, servicing, tyres, breakdown cover plus adaptations such as hand controls and easier door access.

Today, the Scheme purchases over 5% of all new cars, powered wheelchairs and scooters sold in the UK, via a national network of some 4,500 Motability dealers, including Squire Furneaux at Leatherhead. Motability dealers are stringently vetted to ensure they provide parking spaces and easy access for disabled customers, as well as excellent levels of service.

At Squire Furneaux, Motability-trained specialists help customers to choose the Volvo that best suits their needs and guide them through the Motability Scheme process.

We asked Malcolm Prior, Sales Manager at Squire Furneaux Leatherhead, what were the key factors in the service they offer? "Motability customers like our relaxed style, comfortable showroom and the hassle-free way we handle the Scheme on their behalf", commented Malcolm, "and the zero advance rental on the S40 1.6 S has meant that a lot more customers are choosing Volvo than ever before!"

For more details about Volvo cars on the Motability Scheme, contact Squire Furneaux Leatherhead on 01372 371900 and for information about Motability itself, visit their website: www.motability.co.uk

ZAFIRA GETS A NEW LOOK AS SALES CONTINUE TO BOOM

- MPV best-seller gets improved trim and styling changes
- Exclusive model introduced
- Zafira remains the market leading MPV

Britain's best-selling MPV has just got even better!

With some styling changes, a new trim level and equipment upgrades, the class-leading Vauxhall Zafira looks set to further increase its popularity in the UK market.

The changes, set to coincide with the introduction of the new '08' numberplates, include extra chrome detailing on the radiator grille, new foglamp surrounds, revised rear lamp clusters and chrome detailing on the front headlamp lenses.

With a focus on high value and comprehensive equipment levels, the new Exclusiv trim comes with an impressive equipment list. Standard kit includes air conditioning, a CD stereo, remote central deadlocking, electric front windows, side, front and curtain airbags, 16-inch Structure wheels, roof rails and body-coloured exterior trim. Curtain airbags become standard on all Zafira models, while Design, Elite and VXR models also get new piano black interior detailing around the audio and ventilation controls.

In 2007, Vauxhall sold 47,813 Zafiras, giving the model a total of 27.7 per cent of the compact monocab segment.

The Zafira alone beat the combined sales of one key rival's three MPV models, proving that the model's flexibility makes it a favourite with many different types of customer.

As well as the Zafira, Vauxhall offers the smaller Meriva and the soon to be launched New Agila.

And the final reason to change? How about 3 years' free servicing?

However good the offer on buying a new Volkswagen, at some point servicing costs enter the equation. Which is why we've come up with our latest idea. Under this scheme, we'll cover those costs for you for 3-years or 30,000 miles. The offer applies to owners of Fox, Polo, Golf, Golf Estate, Golf Plus, Jetta and Touran. Ask for more details when you come in for a test drive or contact us at our showroom on the number below.

Mo has fixed his focus on Beijing glory

Teddington-based distance runner Mo Farah may be gunning for world indoor gold this weekend, but the British number one would trade it for a podium finish at this summer's Olympic Games in Beijing.

The 24-year-old, who will compete in the 3,000m alongside fellow Briton Nick McCormick, booked his Valencia berth after producing a personal-best performance in the two-mile event at the Norwich Union Birmingham Grand Prix last month.

With the World Cross Country Championships in Edinburgh later this month, followed by the AAA trials in Manchester in July and the Olympics in August, Farah faces a busy few months on the track.

But the European 5,000m silver medallist has just one thing on his mind as he touches down in Spain this week – beating the likes of Ethiopian Kenenisa Bekele in August and finally producing a major championship medal.

“I want an Olympic medal this year but I know it's not going to be easy,” said Farah.

“The Africans do dominate my event but anything can happen, and I have just got to concentrate on getting myself into the best possible shape.

“To go to the Olympics will be huge and the past four years' planning is now coming to an end. Everything I have done and everything I continue to do – including the world indoors – is with Beijing in mind.

“I am feeling really good and looking forward to a positive 2008 – I am not in the best shape I can be but I am happy with where I am currently.

“You have got to be selfish in Olympic year.

“I enjoy the indoor season but I haven't done as much as normal because of Beijing.”

Farah is being talked about as a world-class athlete after finishing seventh at last year's World Championships in Osaka and having landed European cross country gold in 2006.

The Newham & Essex Beagle star has been tipped as a London 2012 gold medal winner by the likes of Lord Coe and Dame Kelly Holmes but, for the time being, Farah insists the extra publicity is not a worry.

“My profile has been raised,” he added.

“It is nice to be talked about but all I want to do is train hard and have successful major championships, starting with Valencia and Beijing.

“I feel the experience I gained in Macau and Osaka last year will help me at the Olympics.

“The humidity and the pollution are strange in Beijing but you have to deal with that and I don't let those things bother me.

“The conditions are different to anything else and some of the Africans will not go and train there, so it gives me an extra edge.”

Champ Adam off to the US

Hampton School sixth-former Adam Hunt (above) has become a national tennis champion, and is off to America soon to develop his skills.

The 18-year-old was part of the Surrey team that won the National County Championships at Bath University.

They beat Lancashire, Sussex and Kent to win the title after they gained promotion to the top flight.

Adam has been awarded a Tennis Scholarship at Mercer University in Atlanta, Georgia, where he will study journalism.

“Mercer has awarded me a tennis scholarship worth over $40,000 a year,” says Adam, who is finishing his A-levels.

“Winning the county championships with Surrey in my last year at Hampton is a great boost before taking on the challenge of playing in America.”

Twell claims England title

Double European junior cross country champion Steph Twell has lifted the junior women's title in the English national cross country championships at Alton Towers, writes Tom Pollak.

Teenager Twell, a student at St Mary's University, Twickenham, dominated the two-lap race to win by half a minute in 13 minutes 53 seconds.

Twell has already been pre-selected for next month's IAAF World Championships in Edinburgh.

Fellow St Mary's student Rose Anne Gilligan was 13th (15:06).

Former St Mary's student Faye Fullerton had a good run in the senior women's event, finishing fifth out of 500 runners in 24:50, with current student Jo Ankier 14th (25:21).

Ranelagh's Marie Synnott-Wells was 109th (28:49).

St Mary's student Ben Lindsay was fourth in the junior men's race (28:20).

Former St Mary's University, Twickenham, student, Steve Vernon finished third (32:32), with Hampton-based Mike Skinner fifth (32:47), boosting his chances of making the World Championships squad.

St Mary's Andy Vernon, who took individual bronze medal at the European U23 cross country championships in Spain in December, was 10th (33:05), with fellow student Keith Gerrard 14th (33:26).

Casuals boss calls for a big finish

Walton Casuals boss Luke Dowling called for a storming finish to the season as he continues his rebuilding at Franklyn Road, writes Simon Fitzjohn.

Dowling saw his side slump to a 1-0 defeat at Chatham Town on Saturday and Casuals remain just above the Ryman Division One South drop-zone.

And the manager admitted he had been less than impressed at the weekend.

He said: “It was a disappointing display.

“To be honest, I would say it was the worst we have played in a long while.

“But we have to get on with things.

“At this stage of the season, there is always a side near the bottom that goes on a run of form and I want that to be us.”

Dowling has not yet pressed the panic button due, but agreed things need to improve.

He said: “We have a very young team – in fact, the oldest player is only 23.

“When you have a squad that young, I suppose a bad run of form is always just round the corner. But I expect us to get better.”

Saturday sees Eastbourne Town visit, and Dowling admitted it was the perfect time for his side to step up.

He added: “Eastbourne is a massive game for us.

“We need to get in a position where we know we are safe. Once we get there, I can start planning for next season.

“Although we will be looking to bring in players, the main thing for us will be keeping the good youngsters.

FOOTBALL: Hampton Rangers U10s won the Surrey Youth League Premier Division at the first time of asking on Sunday. After promotion last season, they clinched the title at the earliest opportunity with four matches still to play. The team have won every league game so far and are aiming to stretch their winning run until the end of the season.

FOOTBALL: Teddington U17 gained revenge for a cup defeat by Knaphill with a 2-1 victory in Sunday's league meeting. Knaphill scored first, but Alex Hankey levelled before Elliott Burgess got the winner with 15 minutes left. However, it took a point-blank reaction save five minutes from the end by keeper Marcel Roe to preserve the points.

Casuals face crunch clash

Corinthian Casuals boss Brian Adamson has admitted that Saturday's relegation clash at Horsham YMCA is a game his side dare not lose.

Casuals' poor recent form continued when they were thumped 4-1 at home by Dulwich Hamlet at the weekend.

But Adamson has urged his players to cast aside that memory as they look to secure their Ryman Division One South future.

He said: "The Horsham YMCA game has become a very, very big one for us.

"We have to go there and it is very important that we get something out of the game.

"If we win it will be fantastic but if we come back with a point it will not be the end of the world."

Saturday's reverse saw Casuals concede four goals before Carlton Murray-Price grabbed a late consolation from a Danny Green corner.

Adamson said: "It was men against boys – as simple as that.

"We were totally outplayed and they were stronger than us in every department.

Kingston RFC are a win away from guaranteeing promotion to London Four South West after Saturday's 20-3 win over Old Caterhamians, writes Graeme Maisey.

Second-placed Old Alleynians slipped up against in-form London Exiles, allowing Ks to stretch their lead at the top of Surrey One to six points.

James Beck and Jonathan Morris scored their tries.

Ks will be hoping to secure promotion in Saturday's clash with Old Freemans.

Dowson keeping the faith

by STUART AMOS

samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingstonian boss Alan Dowson is confident his side can make the play-offs, providing they are in the mix with three games to go.

The odds on Ks finishing inside the top five at the end of the season lengthened on Saturday, when an injury-time winner from Andy Ottley condemned them to a 2-1 defeat at Met Police.

Sections of the Kingsmeadow faithful have been increasingly critical of Dowson and his assistant Mark Hams, as a leaky defence has seen their side claim just three wins in their past 17 league games.

But Ks face Ryman Division One South strugglers Croydon Athletic, Whyteleafe and Eastbourne Town at home in the final fortnight of the campaign, and their manager believes they can silence the boo boys by ending the season on a high.

"There are still 27 points to play for, so you can't say we are out of it by any means," he said.

"If we are still in the hat with three games left, I would be very confident of making it.

"I have always said this is a results-based business. The supporters love you if you are winning and they don't if you are not.

"We have had lots of pats on our back.

"Now we are having a bad run, we have got to take the flack. That is fair enough.

"If I want to get better as a manager – which I do – then I have to get through this. I would rather take the criticism than the players, but we have got to get better. It is as simple as that."

Former Ks defender Tommy Moorhouse, released by Dowson earlier in the season, came back to haunt Ks when he equalised Dean Lodge's opening strike at the weekend.

And it got worse for the visitors when Ottley's late show – and results elsewhere – conspired to leave them five points adrift of fifth spot.

Ironically, Dowson is chasing an experienced centre-back and has room in his budget after Saheed Sankoh quit the club last week for Ebbsfleet Town.

And the 37-year-old former Walton & Hersham boss is under no illusion about what he needs after watching his side again capitulate in the closing stages.

"I have signed five or six players this season who have been captains at senior football clubs before and there isn't a leader among them," he said this week, echoing Hams' thoughts at the weekend.

"We had the game won and then lost our heads in the final minutes. We made two mistakes and it cost us."

Ks are at home to lowly Whitstable Town on Saturday.
